U. F. A. Convention

The U. F. A. Convention opened at Edmonton on Tuesday, a large number of delegates being present. Some criticism of the U. F. A. government was indulged in because the Greenfield cabinet advised against a provincial banking system in favor of long term rural credits in which talk of secession of the west from the east was indulged in.

During the session it was also brought out that President Wood of the U. F. A. has been drawing no salary from that organization since becoming President of the Wheat Pool.

President Wood in his address strongly emphasized the necessity of support of the wheat pool, stating that wheat was the logical product to start with in the efficient marketing of farm products as it represents more cash value than any other one product.

He also warned the members against "political bossism" which he stated had started to rear its head again in Alberta during the last year. The press, as usual, came in for some slams, and Autocracy vs. Democracy dwelt on in relation to the farmer was also another theme on which Mr. Wood spoke.

Death of Wm. Sieber

Passed away, very peacefully, on January 9th, 1924, at the General Hospital, Didsbury Alberta, Mr. William Sieber, aged 84 yrs. He was one of the pioneers of the vicinity of Siebertville having lived in the province of Alberta for twenty years, who was very highly esteemed by all neighbors and friends. Mr. Sieber was very constant in his christian profession, and was a liberal contributor in his church and to all benevolent causes. He was a man of strong convictions and possessed a wonderful memory, and will be missed very much by all.

On December 30th while going out doors, he unfortunately fell and broke his leg. The best available care was tendered by doctors and nurses but death claimed him on the above mentioned date. The funeral took place from the Evangelical church and interment was made in the Didsbury cemetery.

His beloved wife and one daughter predeceased him a few years ago, those remaining are, Mrs. Wm. Rupp of Didsbury, Mrs. W. E. Rieder of Carstairs, Henry and August of Canada, Kansas, William of Kansas, Aaron of Roosthern Sask., Levi of Calgary, Edwin, Ezra and Milton of Carstairs, who were all able to attend the funeral. He has also three brothers living, Christian in Florida and Charles and August in Oregon. Among those who came a great distance was a brother of Mr. Wm. Rupp, from Marion, Kansas. The bereaved family has the deepest sympathy of the entire community.

Didsbury Holds Mitchell Cup

Keen interest is being taken in the curling here this year and the game is being played up to a standard which has never been excelled here before. The Cup schedule is well on its way and the rinks are now beginning to show signs of stringing out with some taking a good lead and others falling behind.

Messrs Miller and Hardy respectively, still hold the gold and silver buttons. The Wednesday night challenges were postponed to Saturday night on account of Innisfail playing here Wednesday night.

Last Friday night two rinks went to Olds as challengers for the Mitchell Cup which Olds has held since last year. The senior rink was composed of Miller skip, Huget, Reed and McGhee while the green rink was composed of Freeman skip, Klayholt, Holmes and Shepherd. After two fairly good games both the home rinks won. Miller's rink against Gooder skip, Scott, Golay and Duff won 15 to 11 and Freeman's against Hinton skip, Fisher, Shennett, and Gooder won 14 to 10. Freeman had to allow Olds 2 points for using Shepherd, who is a second year man. This left the total score 27-21 in Didsbury's favor.

Innisfail were the next challengers on the list and played here on Wednesday night. These games were much harder fought for and as all rinks were playing above standard the curling was of premier quality. Miller, skipping the same rink played Wagner skip, Kirkham, Watt and Bye and Freeman skip with Holmes, Klayholt and Fleury played Kremer skip, Scherwider, Elsasie and Todeschini. Didsbury started out well and for the first half of the game had a fair lead, then Innisfail began to catch up and the game was anybody's from then on. In the last, the sixteenth end the score was 15 to 11 favor of Wagner and 11 to 15 favor of Freeman, making the total score tied. In the extra end Didsbury came well to the front Miller counting 4 and Freeman 1. Thus the total score was 31 to 26 in Didsbury's favor.

Red Deer are the next challengers and play here on Monday night. If the Didsbury boys keep up the good work Red Deer will sure have to play to get the Cup.

Alberta May Develop Hydro Power

Premier Greenfield, during his visit to Ottawa in connection with the natural resources question, obtained promise from the Dominion authorities that no decision would be made regarding the rights for development of the Spray Lakes power scheme in Alberta, until the Provincial Government has had full opportunity to investigate the feasibility of developing a Provincial hydro-electric proposition. Word to this effect was received last week by Acting Premier Hoadley. The Provincial Government has already made arrangements for an investigation of the whole proposition by an eastern expert. This expert has asked for certain information as to area likely to be served by such a scheme, probable power consumption, etc. This information has been gathered. The Provincial Government has application now on file at Ottawa for prior rights of development of the Spray Lakes site, and the report of the expert will form the basis of any further action the Government may take.

OPENING OF LEGISLATURE

The date for the opening of the 1924 Session of the Legislature has been fixed for Monday, January 28th. Several bills have already been sent to the printers to be ready for the Session. The new liquor act and a new election bill will be among the important measures for the Session.

Change In Government Financing

Radical changes in the accounting system of the provincial government, calculated to tighten control of the executive council over all expenditures; to effect considerable economy in elimination of duplication of records and reduction of staffs, and to place the province on a more sound financial footing generally, were put into effect by the government at the beginning of the new year. These changes are the main features of a new policy which has been under consideration by the government since the completion of the special audit made in 1922, and the new system has been installed subsequent to the appointment last September of James C. Thompson as provincial auditor.

Briefly, the new system will accomplish the following important results, which were not possible under the system which has been in effect in past years:

All departmental purchases will be supervised.

All commitments will be audited and checked before the expenditures are incurred, and not after the bills have been received, as has been the case in the past.

A central accounting system will be established whereby the actual financial standing of the province may be ascertained on short notice at any time.

The accounts of the province will be placed on a revenue and expenditure basis.

No commitments will be authorized after an appropriation has once been exhausted.

Under the new system revenue will be made to consist of cash actually collected on income account during the fiscal year, and revenue earned but not collected will be considered as a deferred asset until collected.

Expenditure will be made to include all liabilities incurred during the fiscal year. Unpaid accounts at the end of the year will not be permitted to encumber the appropriations of the succeeding year, but will be charged to, and form part of, the expenditure of the year to which they belong.

The new system will provide that the net surplus or deficit will consist of the difference between income actually collected and expenditures not only actually made but also incurred. This is calculated to put the province on a much more sound financial basis.

Purchasing Agent

A purchasing agent will be appointed shortly and substantial economies, it is expected, will be effected by control and centralization of purchasing. In the meantime a supervisor of purchases will check and collect statistics on all government purchasing.

One of the most important changes effected is the establishment of the pre-audit of all commitments, before orders are issued and expenditures made. Once an appropriation has been exhausted no further expenditures will be authorized save by order-in-council.

Under the new centralized accounting system the machinery is provided for the executive council to control more effectively all revenues and expenditures, and it will be possible for the cabinet to receive from time to time a statement reflecting the exact financial standing of the province.

The installation of the new system involves no increase in staff, in fact, considerable economy will be effected through the elimination of duplication in records, and consequent reduction in staff.

The tendency of the new system will be to increase the efficiency of governmental departments, with a reduction of expenditures, a greater control over the finances, and a more sound financial basis for the province.

DAIRY CONVENTION

Preparations are now under way for the Annual Provincial Dairy Convention to be held in Edmonton at the Macdonald Hotel, January 23, 24 and 25. In view of the great success of the new cream grading system, and the effect this system has had in placing Alberta butter on the world's markets, the subject of grading is to play a big part in the program of the convention and will be discussed in all its phases. Special emphasis is also to be laid on problems of the producers. Prominent speakers will be present, including one or two noted dairy experts from outside the province. A banquet will be held the second evening of the convention.

REBATE TO IMMIGRANTS

It has been announced by Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of immigration and colonization, that an arrangement has been completed with the British government whereby a 20 per cent. preference rate on Atlantic passages for all British immigrants settling in Canada will be put into operation on March 1 of this year. This preference will be paid by the shipping companies and will amount to $15 per passage.

It Pays To Advertise

Some years ago a comedy under the above name was presented in the theatres throughout the country. It proved extremely popular and had a long and successful run because it was not only screamingly funny, but it was based on truth. That advertising pays is fully recognized by the big business men of the world; in fact, it is because they recognized this truth that most of them are today in the class of Big Business, and it is through advertising that they retain their position there. This is something the men in the class of "small" business should recognize.

We have read of the man who was once induced to place an advertisement in a paper and who was later approached to repeat the experiment. He emphatically refused and when asked for his reason declared that as a result of his advertisement he had sold out his entire stock of the article advertised in one day and had been compelled to get an entirely new stock. Then there is the story of the man who declared that advertising had ruined his business, and, when a friend remarked: "Why, I never knew you advertised," he replied: "I didn't, but my competitor did." These may be jokes, but they are crammed full of truth nevertheless.

The power of publicity in business development and growth was recently described at a convention in New York. The production of the raisin industry in California was 149,000,000 pounds a year. A national advertising campaign was inaugurated and in four years a full capacity of production has been reached, namely, 326,000,000 pounds, a gain of considerably more than the original total production. Land for raisin growing which formerly sold for $150 to $300 an acre, has increased to $750 to $1,250 an acre.

Why is it that the people of the United States in 1922 spent $100,000,000 for chewing gum, $63,000,000 for cosmetics, $145,000,000 for scented toilet soaps, $150,000,000 for hair nets, and $800,000,000 on patent medicines? Largely because the big business men who produce these articles are among the greatest advertisers in the world, so much so that it is well nigh impossible to pick up a newspaper or magazine without having these articles forced on your attention.

Some years ago the writer of this article had a conversation with the manufacturer of what is probably Canada's best known patent medicine, and out of the sale of which he had amassed millions. This manufacturer stated that out of every package he sold he set aside one-half of the money received as an advertising appropriation to encourage further sales. In the year in question he spent one and a quarter million dollars in advertising. Asked why, with his medicine so well known, he did not lop off say the quarter million and add it to his profits, he emphatically stated that, on the contrary, he would spend even more.

It is sometimes argued by the man in small business that while advertising is all right for Big Business it is a waste of money on the part of a small business. That is just where small business makes its mistake. Advertising rightly directed is never wasted, and the merchant in a small town or village who does not advertise, not spasmodically but persistently and intelligently, and in the best way to reach his own circle of possible purchasers, namely, through his local paper, is neglecting a great opportunity and leaving the door wide open for his greatest competitor, the mail order house, to capture business which rightfully he should enjoy.

Another mistake made by many a man in the small business class is that in times of business depression, when it becomes necessary to retrench, he cuts off or reduces his advertising, thinking thereby to reduce expenditures. He does reduce expenditures, but to an even greater extent he reduces the volume of his business upon which depends his ability to meet all those expenses he cannot reduce. "Big Business" does not do this; on the contrary, it increases its advertising, possibly reduces prices slightly and goes after increased volume and the largest possible turnover, thereby making more money through increased sales although at a smaller margin of profit on each sale.

Despite "hard times" the pulp and paper business has expanded enormously and newspaper consumption continues high, the reason being that even in the worst periods of industrial depression newspaper advertising has continued at high levels. During "hard times" the merchant, big or small, who merely waits for business to come to him, instead of going after it, is the one least likely to successfully weather the storm.

Nerves So Bad That She Would Sit and Cry

Mrs. Mary Hocking, Madoc, Ont., writes:—

"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a wonderful lot of good. I suffered from general weakness and was so run down and my heart and nerves were in such bad shape that I would sit down and cry and not know what I was crying about. I also used to have weak spells. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am real well now. I shall always keep a box of the Nerve Food in the house, and recommend them to my friends; they are a wonderful medicine."

(Mr. J. W. Vince, Druggist, of Madoc, Ont., says: "I have sold Mrs. Hocking your Nerve Food, and the medicine has done her much good.")

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The business of the League of Nations is to make it possible for governments to act in unity in accomplishing things and not to take governmental machinery into its own hands, Lord Robert Cecil told the council of the league.

No action by the department of labor is contemplated at the present time following the decision of the maintenance of way and railroad shopmen throughout Canada to take a strike vote. Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, has stated.

Retail prices throughout Canada for November showed a very slight average advance over the previous month, and also an increase over the average for a year ago. General indications are that the post-war deflation has now exhausted itself.

S. A. Flory, a captain in the Swedish navy, who in June, 1922, attained an altitude of 19,256.88 feet in a hydro airplane with one passenger, will be recognized by the Swedish Aerial Club as holder of the world's altitude record for a hydroplane.

Measures to conserve British Columbia's fur-bearing animals from total extinction are contemplated by legislation by Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney-general. Under Mr. Manson's amendment to the game act, no aliens except bona fide farmers will be allowed to trap fur-bearing animals.

Mr. Gray Silver, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, declares that agriculture in the United States needs a strong foreign policy that will tend to open up new markets, a change in the tariff to prevent discrimination, and possible provision for international barter to open the German market.

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

Almost Always Due to Weak and Impoverished Blood

Apart from accident or illness due to infection, almost all ill-health arises from one or two reasons. The mistake that people make is in not realizing that both of these have the same cause at the root, namely poor blood. Either bloodlessness or some other trouble of the nerves will be found to be the reason for almost every ailment. If you are pale, suffering from headaches, or breathlessness, with palpitation of the heart, poor appetite and weak indigestion, the cause is almost always poor blood. If you have nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve pains, the cause is exhausted nerves. But run down nerves are also a result of poor blood, so that the two chief causes of illness are one and the same.

If your health is poor; if you are pale, nervous or dyspeptic, you should give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. These pills act directly on the blood, and by enriching it give new strength to worn out nerves. Men and women alike greatly benefit through the use of this medicine. If you are weak or ailing, give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and you will be pleased with the beneficial results that will speedily follow.

If your dealer does not keep these pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Fiji Islanders put a certain drug in the water which stupefies the fish there and allows them to be taken at will.

For Sprains and Bruises.—There is nothing better for sprains and contusions than Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It will reduce the swelling that follows a sprain, will cool the inflamed flesh and draw the pain. It will take the ache out of a bruise by counteracting the inflammation. A trial will convince any who doubt its power.

French and Germans Fraternize

Engage in Football Match and Cheer Each Other at Conclusion of Game

"We are glad to meet in sport and forget politics" was the greeting of the captain of a German association football club in introducing 10 other members of his team to the captain of a team composed of French civilians stationed at Mayence, when, for the first time since 1914, German and French athletes met in competition.

"Sport makes brothers of us all," responded the captain of the French players, and the members of both teams warmly shook hands.

At the conclusion of the match, which was won by the French, five goals to nothing, the two teams cheered each other.

Rockefeller Foundation Grants $500,000 For Upkeep Of Medical School

The University of Alberta announces that it has received a grant of $500,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation for the upkeep of the medical school. Dr. Pearce, medical director of the foundation, visited Edmonton some time ago, and was so satisfied with the conditions developing at the University that he recommended that the Foundation pay the yearly interest on $500,000 to aid in the development of the medical school.

Last year the medical school received class A standing from the American Medical Association, and this autumn Dr. Pearce communicated with the University and stated that he was prepared to recommend to the Rockefeller Foundation the handing over of the capital of $500,000 to the university. The foundation at a board meeting on December 6 formally approved of the recommendation.

Great Business Methods

Paying U.S. in Liberty Bonds Saves Britain Nearly $2,000,000

On December 15, Great Britain paid the United States $92,000,000 interest and principal on the British debt, and payment was made in Liberty bonds, which was an alternative under the agreement. John Bull's financial astuteness is again shown. The Liberty bonds are acceptable at par, and have doubtless been bought up at a discount. It is said that the British Government will save by this method of payment from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.—St. Catharine's Standard.

An excellent protection against worms can be got in Miller's Worm Powders. They render the stomach and intestines untenable to them. They heal the surfaces that have become inflamed by the attacks of the parasites and serve to restore the strength of the child that has been undermined by the draughts that the worms have made upon it, and that their operation is altogether health-giving.

Smoke Screen Boomerang

Airplane Can Use Smoke Screen in Attacking Battleships

The smoke screen devised as a defence for battleships against their enemies is now being used against them and instead of being a blessing is likely to prove the reverse. This smoke screen can now be spread above the battleships by fast, small planes which makes it impossible for the approach of the aerial bomb fleet to be observed. This enables the attacking planes to fly low, when with sensitive finders they pick up the doomed battleship by sound, adjust their aim and loose the bomb in safety except for the possibility of a chance shot fired blindly against the pal of smoke by the anti-aircraft guns on the ship below. It is a strange thing to find the screen employed as a weapon of offense against the very craft which originally produced it as a defensive measure.

A safe and sure medicine for a child troubled with worms is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

Aid To Germany

Should Be Furnished Only On a Business Basis Says Coolidge

Any aid given Germany by the United States, should, in the opinion of President Coolidge, be furnished on a business basis rather than as a matter of charity.

This statement of the President's views, made at the White House after a conference between the executive and Ambassador Weidfeldt, of Germany, was taken as an indication that Mr. Coolidge would not at this juncture favor an appropriation for German relief such as that proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin.

WILL WAIT FOR A SOLUTION OF POLITICAL CRISIS

London.—The solution of the existing complex political crisis has gone over until January, with the government's decision to meet parliament when it reassembles. The only development was that the Labor party, by the official announcement of its various executives, placed on record its readiness to take office whenever called upon.

That the present government has no real hope of being able to retain office for any length of time is seen in its decision to do nothing either to replace or to find seats for the seven ministers defeated in the recent elections. The breathing space afforded by the government's decision to meet parliament is probably welcome to all three parties, as permitting opportunity for consideration and to take bearings without the necessity of committing themselves to immediate action.

Though the leaders of all parties repudiate any intention to seek any coalition, there will doubtless be attempts in the interim, upon the part of the ministerialists, to secure a sort of benevolent neutrality on the part of the Liberals towards the Conservative administration, and as the Liberals are almost as anxious as the Conservatives to keep the Laborites out of office, it would not be surprising to see some unofficial understanding of this kind arranged, especially as there is a general desire to avoid another general election in the near future.

In the meantime, however, the Labor party is taking no chances, and has instructed its electoral organization to prepare for any emergency at any moment.

Alberta Pool Making Satisfactory Progress

Troubles With Elevator Companies
Are Being Gradually Eliminated

Regina.—More than one thousand carloads of wheat are being handled by the Alberta Co-operative Wheat Producers' Limited, and the business of the pool is progressing satisfactorily, according to information received by George W. Robertson, secretary of the Saskatchewan Wheat Producers' Limited.

"The troubles of the Alberta pool with the elevator companies are gradually being smoothed out," said Mr. Robertson, "and at present, the Alberta authorities have practically all the larger elevator companies working under agreement with them and practically every elevator point in the province is covered by at least one pool elevator. In the case of points not covered the contractors to the pool are mostly within hauling distance of some other point, where there is a pool elevator."

U.S. Is Buying More Wheat From Canada

Large Increase Registered During Past Three Months

Ottawa.—Exports of Canadian wheat last month showed an increase over those of November of 1922, but less wheat was shipped out of Canada for the past three months than during the similar period a year ago. For both periods, however, a large increase was registered in wheat bought by the United States. The United States bought 9,010,143 bushels of Canadian wheat last month compared with 3,866,178 bushels in November, 1922. While there was not much difference between the amount of wheat shipped to the United Kingdom last November, compared with November a year ago, exports for the comparative three months showed a falling off from 82,165,550 to 68,233,834 bushels.

Premier of Australia Will Go To Ottawa

Ottawa.—Premier Bruce of Australia, has cabled here that he will arrive in Ottawa on January 31, and leave February 3. He is to sail from Vancouver on Feb. 3. It is intimated officially that the coming of the Australian premier to Ottawa is specifically to discuss with the government arrangements for a reciprocal preferential treaty. Last winter, Hon. J. A. Robb visited Australia with that end in view, but owing to domestic political conditions in Australia little came of the mission. The outlook now is considered to be more favorable, particularly in view of the rejection by Great Britain of the wider Imperial preferential idea.

Carried Off Honors At Livestock Show

Numerous Premiums For Saskatchewan Exhibitors at Chicago and Toronto

Regina.—"Saskatchewan has good reason to feel elated with her successes at the Royal Agricultural Exposition at Toronto and the International Show at Chicago," declared George B. Williams, assistant agricultural agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, on his arrival in the city. "Many honors were carried off by this province in the face of exceedingly keen competition," he added. "In both livestock and grain Saskatchewan exhibitors obtained numerous premiums and undoubtedly much benefit will result as these fairs attracted thousands of people, especially agriculturists."

"An interesting feature of the international show at Chicago was the attendance of 3,000 boys and girls representing the winners of boys and girls club competitions held in the various states. Capacity crowds were present throughout the show, thousands of people being turned away every day."

Infant Saved After Eleven Days

Bergamo, Italy.—A babe, four months old, with sunken eyes and too weak even to cry, was found by soldiers in its cradle floating down the river Lovere. The little victim of the recent dam disaster evidently had been drifting about on the river for eleven days without food or drink. Its pinched face told plainly of its suffering.

NEW PLAN FOR COLLECTIONS TO HELP FARMERS

Winnipeg.—That a plan should be devised whereby mortgage companies, banks and loan companies, etc., would make demands on farmer creditors for fulfillment of obligations in the spring, about March 1, instead of November 1, as at present, was a suggestion made by D. G. MacKenzie, Secretary of the United Farmers of Manitoba, when giving evidence before the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission here.

A system of the kind would lead to two things, Mr. MacKenzie declared. It would lead to a more orderly marketing of grain and eliminate dumping to a great extent, and would probably have the effect of stabilizing prices. It would also enable the farmer to do a great deal more cleaning of grain than he could do at the present, and more screenings would be retained in the country, which would be a great factor in stimulating mixed farming. Mr. MacKenzie declared it was a great injustice to the farmer to force him to meet financial obligations early in November.

The secretary of the U.F.M. spoke in support of suggestions he made before the commission at Brandon for effecting improvements in the weighing, inspecting and marketing of grain. Speaking of the special charges made for special binning, Mr. MacKenzie asserted they were not high enough, and in losing money in this respect the operators of the country elevators took it out of the other farmers who sold on the "street."

Britain Fighting Cattle Disease

Twenty Counties Affected and Daily
Loss is $350,000

London.—The slaughter of animals on a wholesale scale because of foot and mouth disease goes on steadily and animals to the value of at least £70,000 are being dispatched daily in the effort to stamp out the epidemic. A statement to this effect was made by Sir William Joynson-Hicks, minister of health, in a speech. Although 20 counties are affected the worst centres are Shropshire and Cheshire, especially the latter, where more than 20 new cases are developing daily, thus necessitating the virtual devastation of every farm in the country where there is infection.

The officials of the ministry are experiencing difficulty in coping with the situation which is threatening to desolate Cheshire. A special cabinet committee has been appointed to deal with the scourge.

Italy Again Facing Flood

Rome.—After a few days of sunshine and fine weather, torrential rains are again flooding the country, and storms are capsizing many small vessels, especially off the shores of Sardinia. Light earth shocks indicate that water has penetrated into the craters of volcanoes and into the crevices of volcanic rocks.

Canada's Need Is A Strong National Spirit

Vancouver.—Greater population, lower transportation costs, development of a strong national spirit in Canada, and realization in the hearts and minds of individuals of the necessity for public economy—these are the necessities which Hon. T. A. Crerar sees essential to success and prosperity in Canada. Speaking before the Canadian Club here, he dealt with outstanding problems of Canada. While he did not "talk shop," barely mentioning the United Grain Growers, of which he is head, and the business which has brought him, with other officers of the company, to Vancouver to look into the possibilities of placing terminal elevator facilities in this port, he stated in definite terms his belief of the greatness of Vancouver as a grain port, and of British Columbia generally.

The Prince As a Farmer

Is Deservedly Most Popular Man in British Empire

London.—In a speech delivered at the dinner of the Farmers' Club and the Chamber of Agriculture, the Prince of Wales said: "You can look upon me as a farmer this evening—a farmer both at home and in Canada. I was very glad of the opportunity of going over to Canada and really learning something about agriculture. Many people who pass by fields of stock, for instance, have no idea of the hard work involved in raising them."

The Prince expressed sympathy with the British farmers' troubles and also admiration for the way they were holding on. He was sure the agricultural industry would emerge triumphant from the present trouble. The best British farmers had no equal in the world.

Lord Bledisloe, chairman, said the Prince was deservedly the most popular man in the British Empire. When he was in Canada, they heard of Lord Renfrew grooming horses, cleaning out cow stalls, washing down cattle, driving the binder and taking part in the every day tasks of the agricultural worker because he wanted to learn first-hand what the agricultural worker had to contend with. He was giving the country squire a splendid lead in his conception of landowners and farmers.

MUST PIN FAITH ON LEAGUE SAYS HON. G. P. GRAHAM

Toronto.—Canada will do well to reaffirm her belief in the great organization of the League of Nations for ironing out difficulties that may arise or now exist, and for the prevention of bloodshed, declared Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, at a complimentary banquet tendered him here by the Liberals of Ontario on his return from Europe, where he sat as a delegate from Canada in the council of the League of Nations and the Imperial and Economic conferences in England.

"Our friends in the United States do not ignore the League of Nations, but rather use it when it can be of advantage," said Mr. Graham, who instanced the "sitting" in on the committee of Representative Porter of the United States when the opium question was under discussion.

Discussing the results of the overseas settlement negotiations at the Imperial Conference, Mr. Graham said that Canada could look for an increased flow of desirable British citizens to this country next year. Contrary to the general view, he said Canada absorbed a greater number of people from the British Isles each year than any of the other British Dominions, and indications are that she will absorb, during the present year as many as any two other Dominions.

"From reports that have come to us," said Mr. Graham, "thousands of people who left Canada during the past year or two to find employment in the United States are returning."

In the matter of the Imperial preference, Mr. Graham said it was the opinion of the Canadian delegates that each entity in the Empire should have a sole right to say what its own tariff policy would be. It was pointed out that other overseas Dominions could much more readily throw down the bars against importation of manufactured goods and machinery than could Canada, placed as she was in a position where a large trade between Canada and the United States was found profitable.

Touching on the Canadian National Railways, Mr. Graham said that if the Canadian public accorded to the management of that enterprise fair treatment the deficits of operation will disappear.

Greater Menace Than War

Appalling Wastage of Life Through Tuberculosis Says Winnipeg
Doctor

Montreal.—While 50,000 Canadians died overseas during the war 50,000 Canadians died uselessly and needlessly of tuberculosis at home and no armistice or treaty has put an end to that wastage of life. Tuberculosis, like war, kills at the prime of life those who are bearing the burden and heat of the day, those upon whom civic and business and industrial and family responsibility rest.

The above was the declaration of Dr. D. A. Stewart, of Winnipeg, in an address before the Rotary Club here. In Montreal, he said, one thousand persons die every year from tuberculosis, while in the province of Quebec the death rate from this disease is over 3,000 yearly. In Quebec also every town of 5,000 people loses six of its citizens each year, the death rate being 120 per 100,000. In Saskatchewan, the speaker stated, the death rate is 43, and in Ontario under 70.

London.—The unemployment situation has been steadily improving in recent weeks. Last week it decreased 24,000 and now the total number of unemployed is 1,195,000.

SUNDAY SCHOOL AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONVENTION

An interdenominational Sunday School Convention convened on December 28th, 29th and 30th in the Evangelical church at Mayton, Alberta. A goodly number of friends from a distance were present, but on account of the inclement weather the attendance was not as large as had been expected. Those who did attend expressed themselves as being well repaid for putting forth the special effort to be present.

The friends who attended were highly gratified with the address of welcome given by the Sunday School
President, and the congenial hospitality of the homes to which they were billeted. Such meetings always bring great blessing to a community in which they are held. We hope to see more conventions of this nature in the different communities where it is possible to do so.

Paget (for the Trout Lake Country),
Lake Penage, Massey, Blind River,
Thessalon, Desbarats, Mattawa,
North Bay, Sturgeon Falls and Carter are well favored. Moose are plentiful in Ontario in the country along the main line of the Canadian Pacific from Sudbury to the Manitoba boundary, especially near Met-tama, Biscotasing, Chapleau, Mis-sanable, Franz, Jack Fish, Schreiber, Rossport, Nipigon, Savanne, Ignace, Dinorwic, Wabigoon, and Kenora,
and, in Quebec, in the St. Maurice,
Lake Edward, Lake Megantic, Mani-waki, Timiskaming and Kipawa districts.

Caribou, in Quebec, may now be found only in the remote northern sections, and, in Ontario, on the islands of Lake Superior and round Rossport, Schreiber and Nipigon, on the mainland.

From all these districts come stories of wonderful luck which will thrill the pulses of every hunter.
Take the good fortune of Dr. C.
H. McCreary, of Montreal, and Mr.
A. J. O'Keefe, of New Rochelle,
New York, regular patrons of the St. Jovite district of the Laurentians, Quebec. Penetrating some days ago from Grey Rocks Inn, at St. Jovite, to Big Devil's Lake,

sometimes referred to as Lac la Croix, they met several cow moose and an immense bull. But the climax came when another splendid bull obligingly took up a position within 50 yards of their tent. The first shot from the doctor's trusty rifle brought him down and Mr. O'Keefe finished him off.

Again, from F. W. Amott's Kip-Camp, 30 miles up Lake Timiskaming from Timiskaming Station, at the mouth of Kipawa River, word comes of how Mr. J. A. Cavanagh, of New York, got his moose within an hour and a half of leaving camp, and was back within two hours and a half. Next morning while the animal was being skinned, another big moose calmly watched the operation for five minutes from a point close by.

After that, you can still keep your hand off your rifle!

ALBERTA COAL FOR PACIFIC STEAMERS

Announcement has been made that the Board of Harbor Commissioners at Vancouver will erect coal bunkers costing half a million to provide for handling of Alberta and Eastern B. C. coal. This announcement crowns with success the efforts which have been under way for the past two years by Premier Green, field, who realized the possibility of a new outlet for Alberta steam coal in its use on Pacific steamers, and who has had H. Stutchbury, Trade Commissioner, employed on the matter. The Alberta Government official together with several coal companies, have conducted tests to establish the feasibility of Alberta steam coal for use on marine engines, and these tests have been satisfactory.

because it was almost impossible to enjoy what was going on around, or that through which the voyager was passing as he was confined to a hard, narrow seat for hours, with no comfort other than the thought that perhaps the end of the journey would bring relief.

When the operation of railroads ceased to be an experiment and it was realized that the future of the country depended upon their development, the railway companies realized that the tourist traffic was a source of revenue to be cultivated, and the first observation coaches were introduced. These were little more than glorified day coaches with an open platform at the rear. Soon, however, the demand by tourists for special accommodation became so insistent that special equipment had to be constructed for them. During the past few years, the magnificent observation cars such as are used on the Canadian Pacific have been evolved, and these, together with the modern all steel compartment and other cars ensure the traveller such comfort that to travel is a delight.

There is now no convenience possible which the traveller does not enjoy. While traversing the Rockies he may use the regular coaches, or, during the summer, the open observation cars. The observation coaches, as used elsewhere, enable him to see the country he passes through, from a comfortable chair. Special smoking rooms are also provided.

In all things pertaining to railroad travel and convenience the railways of Canada have set the pace for those of other parts of the continent.

NO railroad on the Continent of America is much more than a century old, yet it seems, and is indeed, a far cry to the days of the old horse-drawn railway vehicles and the open cars drawn by the first locomotives, which superseded them. Perhaps in no country in the world has railroad engineering made such progressive strides as in Canada during the last half century. As late as 1870-73 the Quebec Government encouraged development by building railways entirely of wood. The rails were of straight grained hard maple, 12 feet in length, but the knots were weak spots which often caused the rail to break and occasion a delay of, perhaps, hours. In wet weather no progress could be made at all and there are not a few living today who remember having to help the fireman and engineer load up with wood in order to speed their travel.

What a far cry it is, from the old cars, exposed to the elements at all times, or boxed in so that fresh air was at a premium, to the luxurious parlor, sleeping, compartment and observation cars of today. Canada had just as much scenery in the old days as it has now, the same glorious expanses and wooded hillsides, the same wonderful peaks and splendid rivers, yet Canadian scenery could not be "sold" then,

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

Christmas Day fell on a Saturday last year, and to that fact we owed Teddy's flying visit. He came out Friday night and returned to the city Monday morning.

That, my first country Christmas, is another occasion that will always be green in my memory, for it was a very happy time, in spite of the little ache of homesickness that underlay the jollity. But I had so much to be thankful for, and the children were in so good a state of excitement that I should have been calmer indeed had not the spirit of the season touched me.

For a week before the great day it felt very busy. I took Murray and the twins and me a whole afternoon to find exactly the tree we wanted, and then it had to be cut and brought home with appropriate ceremonies. We cut other spruce boughs for decorations and Jean showed us a place where the pretty red-berried wintergreen grew, so by Friday night the living-room was ready for Teddy and Santa Claus.

Friday evening we all went into Spruce Creek to meet Teddy and to attend the Christmas entertainment prepared by Mrs. Carsdale and her pupils. Saturday morning we had our own Christmas tree and at one o'clock our dinner, the Cameron boys helping us to make short work of the big goose we had bought from Mrs. Gagnon. While Jim and I were washing the dishes Murray and Bob and Teddy took the children out for a run and early in the evening our guests went home and the twins to bed—after which Murray and Teddy and I discussed the affairs of the universe until midnight. Sunday morning Teddy inspected everything on the place—and was as enthusiastic over our improvements as the most exacting amateur could ask—and after dinner we drove into Spruce Creek to church, the student from Manitoba College who had been there in the summer having come out to hold Christmas services. It was good to be in church again and to sing the old Christmas hymns, and Murray and I promised ourselves that when Mr. Bonar returned in the spring we would never miss a Sunday. It was hard to drive away afterwards and leave Teddy behind us at the Bolling House, however.

I think all our friends remembered us that Christmas. Teddy came laden with bundles and each mail day for two weeks brought a pile of letters and parcels. It seemed as if everyone had feared that we would feel lonely and had set out to prove that we had not been forgotten. Mr. Her-ington wrote a characteristically amusing letter to Murray and sent a boat to Rupert and a Belgian doll to Nicolas. Cousin Margaret sent two pairs of small-sized snowshoes, and Maudie a beautifully dressed doll for Nicolas and a Tinker Toy for Rupert. Teddy brought me the Blue Canton far I have wanted for years, ties and a pair of slippers for Murray, and—heartless wretch that he is—a drum and a bugle for the twins.

Even our new friends were thoughtful, we had cards from several of the Spruce Creek people and Gwen Severn gave me beautiful lace handkerchiefs. And as for the children, even Cousin Margaret's snowshoes were forgotten for a few minutes when the Cameron boys arrived with an endearingly clumsy Collie puppy who, after much thought on the part of the twins and many inappropriate suggestions from Teddy, was named "Waggles."

On the Wednesday between Christmas and New Year's Day the Mowbrays gave a party. Even their big house was crowded, and we had a wonderful time. All of us who had children took them with us, of course. Mrs. Mowbray had prepared for that. The biggest bedroom had been cleared for the children and they had their games and their supper there. And when, little Molly Severn and Victorine Gagnon and the Wright baby felt the Sandpiper coming they were put to sleep and laid carefully away in Jean's bed and in Sandy's outgrown crib, their mother afterwards going calmly on with their own affairs.

The Torrances were there—Mr. Torrance is station agent—Mr. and Mrs. Wright from the mill, Mrs. Bolling and Mrs. Kristiansen came together as neither of their husbands could get away. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson brought Mr. Macleod and Mr. Manson with them—in fact, if we except the Ripstons and Ali Sing, who has the restaurant, all Spruce Creek was represented. And from the farms came the Severns and the Fenwick and the Aylwins, Harry Atkinson and his Belgian wife, Jim and Bob Cameron, the Farrells and the Buckleys, Mr. and Mrs. Gagnon and the baby.

And such fun as we did have. I had not danced so much for years for I was never allowed to rest, not even in the square dances that muddled me so hopelessly. As usual in our gatherings the women were very much in the minority, but that was not allowed to worry us. Sandy and the Farrells borrowed all our aprons from Jean and filled in very nicely! It was very foolish and childish, no doubt, but our hostess was the youngest of us all and she sent us into fits of laughter when she exclaimed feelingly, "This is just the size of family I'd like to have all the time!"

We missed Mrs. Carsdale, who had gone to Winnipeg for the holidays, but Jean against the background of her own home came out of her shell in a manner that surprised even me.

I must be a rather stupid person in some ways, for I had another surprise that night. I knew, of course, that Jim Cameron spent a great deal of his spare time at the Mowbray home, and that Bob teased him about it in a general sort of way, but that there was anything serious in prospect I had never suspected until the night of the party.

As the one unmarried girl in the district Jean naturally received a great deal of attention from the lone and hungry bachelors, and her calm and impersonal way of accepting it had always amused me. Another girl might have been accused of playing them off one against the other, but not Jean. She was too natural and too single-minded for anything of that sort—though possibly her impartial friendliness had the same effect in the end!

But the night of the party it was obvious even to me that Jim was a lap ahead of the other men. Whether the Christmas season was responsible or the excitement, or the fact that Jean was in her own home I do not know, but at all events while Jean distributed her dances strictly in rotation it was Jim who helped her and Mrs. Mowbray to serve the supper, who with the Mowbray boys cleared the rooms for dancing, and who was always at Jean's elbow when she wanted anything done. It was not so much what he did as the way in which he did it—he had helped me in the same way many times—and equally significant was Jean's manner of accepting his services. When a girl like Jean begins to mother a man like Jim something is bound to happen, and while I had from the first been fond of Jim I was not sure that he was quite good enough for Jean.

One thing Murray and I both noticed, and laughed at on our way home, was that Mrs. Mowbray tried in vain to keep him in his place, her soft heart and Jim's firm conviction that everybody loved him being obstacles equally difficult to overcome. Mrs. Mowbray, I think, rather favored Mr. Macleod, perhaps because he was older and more a man of the world, perhaps because, mother-like, she wanted Jean to have an easier life than her's had been. But in spite of her clever generalship Jim outplayed her, and Jean's half-shy, half-amused acceptance of his undisguised admiration was wholly adorable—and very dangerous.

Although I laughed at her, I could sympathize with Mrs. Mowbray. Jim I felt, was a dear, but so impulsive and susceptible that I could not but feel that Jean would be rather wasted on him and would be more deeply appreciated by an older and steadier man. It was not until long after this that Jean and I ever discussed the matter, not until trouble came and she turned to me for the sympathy that she could not ask of her mother, and then I found that she saw as clearly as we did, but that she knew what she wanted and would be satisfied with nothing else. And now I am inclined to believe that Time will prove her right. Nature does seem to be wiser in these affairs than even the most well-meaning parents and friends.

Jim, as might have been expected, confided in me at the first opportunity, when I was unkind enough to remind him of some former confidence relating to a girl in England and to one who had taught in Spruce Creek before Mrs. Carsdale came.

"Oh, but that was different," he assured me, "I was only a kid then." "You are only a kid now," I pointed out, "and so is Jean for that matter. Better stick to your farm for the next few years, don't run the risk of spoiling a perfectly good friendship."

Then it all came out. He knew he wasn't good enough for Jean, and he guessed she knew it too, and he wouldn't have anything to offer a girl like her for years and years. But he hated to see those older chaps hanging around her—why didn't they go after something that was their own age? There were lots of widows and old maids who'd jump at a man like Macleod.

"I'll not be in a position to marry until I'm old and feeble, I suppose," he said gloomily. "About twenty years from now I'll be coming around here after Nicolas and making the young fellows sore. You'd make a peach of a mother-in-law, Mrs. Aylwin, honest, you would," he finished with a return to his usual manner.

We had scarcely settled ourselves after the Christmas celebrations when the twins, in company with half the juvenile population of Spruce Creek, came down with mumps. Murray said to say they got it off Mrs. Carsdale's Christmas tree, and no doubt he was right. The Severn children had it too, and even some of the grown-ups who had not taken the precaution to acquire immunity in their school days.

I do not know why people speak of the mumps as if it were a joke, I certainly shall never do so again after the experience I went through with Rupert. The poor little fellow was so very ill for a few days, and his temperature was so high that I should have given half of my kingdom for twenty minutes of Dr. Sutherland's time. The disease quickly ran its course, but I have thought since how terrible must be the anxiety of an inexperienced mother who has to nurse her children through one of the really dangerous diseases. We are too dependent, we modern women, on nurses and doctors and the knowledge we can obtain at need from other people. All I knew about the treatment of mumps was what I could remember Mother doing for me when I had it.

Nicolas had so weirdly swollen a face that she had to laugh at herself, but she was never ill as Rupert was. In fact, I am inclined to believe that she rather enjoyed the experience, for after she was able to be out of bed she derived an immense amount of satisfaction from "taking care of poor Brother," and she was made glowingly happy by her nurse's cap and apron, even though the cap was usually cocked over one eye.

I do not think I have even put it on record that Nicolas is not a conspicuously pretty child—Rupert is our prize beauty—but both Murray and I feel sure that she will never lose the charm that has been a part of her since her baby days—a charm that is partly made up of the way in which everything she puts on her head is sure to cast a shadow over one eye eventually, partly of her half-mischievous half-coquettish expression, partly of the light grace and daintiness of very movement. She is so much like Murray even now that I believe she will grow better-looking as she grows older. But just at present her little face is sweet and attractive rather than pretty, with its halo of soft fair hair, eyes almost too big for their setting, wide mouth tucked well up and in at the corners, and firm little chin with the ghost of a dimple.

Interesting Stories For Young Folks

BOLDNESS

There is a splendid kind of boldness. One day, years ago, sometime after the death of Jesus, two of His disciples, Peter and John, were arrested and brought before their bitter enemies who were ready and able to kill them. And Peter, the noble soul, stood up without a pang of fear and just told them face to face what he thought; and then the New Testament story says: "When they saw the boldness of Peter and John they marvelled."

It is a fine thing to see men and women and girls and boys who are not afraid to do and stand for the right.

Listen to this story which I will give you just as I got it:

He was small for his age, worked in a signal box, and booked the trains. One day the men chaffed him about being so small. One of them said:

"You will never amount to much. You will never be able to pull these levers; you are too small."

The little fellow looked at them.

"Well," said he, "as small as I am, I can do something which none of you can do."

"Ah! what is that?" they all said.

"I don't know that I ought to tell," he replied.

But they were anxious to know, and urged him to tell what he could do, that none of them were able to do. Said one of the men:

"What is it, boy?"

"I can keep from swearing and drinking!" replied the little fellow.

There were blushes on the men's faces, and they didn't seem anxious for any further information on the subject.

Was not he the right kind of a bold boy?

Or what do you think of a lot of officers at a dinner, drinking and telling unclean tales.

Everybody had to tell a story or sing a song.

One young, shy fellow said, "I cannot sing but I will give a toast in water." And the toast he gave was, "Our Mothers."

The rest were so touched by his splendid courage that they shook his hand and thanked him, and the Colonel said it was one of the bravest acts he ever saw.

A great Scotch preacher was so brave that it was said, "He never feared the face of man."

Every girl and boy should be bold in that way—fearless, heroic, full of courage and with a stiff, brave heart.

Some day you will read and study Shakespeare, and he will give you this message:

"What's brave, what's noble, let's do it, and make death proud to take us."

Another writer, whose name I do not know, is quoted as saying:

"We make way for the man who boldly pushes past us."

Dear girls and boys, was it not a great moment for Canada when a little handful of Canadians stood at Ypres, in the first poison gas attack and dared to face it, and stand fast?

Their boldness helped to stem the tide, and that first stand was the beginning of the events that won the war for the Allies.

That sort of a bold person makes history, and makes the history of their country.

The poet Emerson puts it this way: "Not gold, but only men can make a people great and strong."

A people great and strong. Men who for truth and honour's sake stand fast and suffer long.

Brave men who work while others sleep.

Who dare while others fly—They build a nation's pillars deep And lift them to the sky."

But there is a boldness that acts on life like foxes in a garden.

It is seen in the rude, rough, saucy, forward girl or boy.

The boy who becomes a "smart Alec." Sometimes other boys call him "Smarty."

Or the girl who does not know how to blush; with no sense of shame, you can always tell them. She dresses loud, and laughs loud, and makes a fool of herself on the street; and he stares at you and acts impudently, and thinks he is manly.

They like to be looked at, and stare back. They lack gentle, quite refinement, and if that spirit grows, it will ruin the character and make the girl or boy

How America Was Named

Before White Men Came, Indians Called Country "Amaroke"

Discussion is again rife as to why this continent was named "America." Opinions vary as to how it happens that its people are called Americans, many crediting the fact entirely to this continent having been discovered by and named for Americus Vesputius, the son of a wealthy Florentine notary. This is based on the belief that the name America comes from Amalric or Emmerich, an old German word spread through Europe by the Goths and softened in Latin to Americus and in Italian to Amerigo.

However, it is pointed out on the other hand that the origin may have been entirely native. Ask any old Indian medicine man what was the name of this country before the white man came, and he will invariably say "Amaroke." This has been written in no book for him has not been drilled into his mind by any white man, but has been handed down from generation to generation, and the fact is well established among searchers of history of today.

A Severe Attack Of Heart Trouble

MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills

Mr. A. E. Barnes, Athens, Ont., writes:—"Four years ago I had a very severe attack of heart trouble. I consulted my doctor; he treated me for some time, but I only seemed to be getting worse. I finally went to our druggist and purchased three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and decided immediate relief from their use, and I can truthfully say they are a wonderful medicine. I always keep a box on hand, and if I feel out of sorts I take a few pills and feel all right again."

Value of Settlers' Effects

Though the number of immigrants to Canada this year is much larger than last year, are not bringing with them as much in effects. The arrivals in September were 107 per cent. over those for the same month last year, but the value of their effects was $107,000 less. For the six months ending September, the value of settlers' effects that came in was $3,366,622, or over $400,000 below that for the same period last year. On the other hand 48,000 more immigrants had been received.

On Christmas Day
In The Morning

Let us go up to the House of God,
Fulfilling our Christian calling;
Walking in ways which the saints have told
And keeping our feet from falling;
Lighting our steps as we go along With Heavenly words of warning,
"Glory to God" was the angels' song
On Christmas Day in the morning.

Let us go forth with a merry noise,
As those who are holiday keeping;
Bidding the needy to share our joys,
And banish their night of weeping;
Bearing with weakness as we are strong—Self-pleasing and sullenness scorning;
"Peace upon earth!" was the angels'
song
On Christmas Day in the morning.

Let us forgive though our brothers
err'd
Till seventy times and seven;
Let the "good will" of the newborn
Word
Be done upon earth as in heaven;
"Glory to God" from the white-robed throne,
Who wait for the Bride's adorning;
"Peace upon earth!" was the angels'
song
On Christmas Day in the morning.

Interesting Radio Experiment

As interesting experiment in radio was the recent sending of a signal from New York to Warsaw, Poland, where, without human intervention, it actuated the Warsaw transmitter and so sent itself back to New York. Allowed to continue the signal made the circuit almost forty times, a distance of 350,000 miles, before the electric force died away.

Fast Eaters Save Money

Slow eaters are penalized in Germany. A diner starting to eat at 3 o'clock and finishing at 4 will find the prices have increased during the meal, following the new official mark quotation. The usual question asked with each other nowadays is: "Will I pay the morning rate or the afternoon rate?"

Christmas the World Over

Christmas Celebrated on Same Date
This Year the World Over For
First Time Since 1751

It is pointed out that the adoption of the Georgian calendar by the Russian Orthodox Church through a recent proclamation by Archbishop Tikhon means that the entire Christian world will celebrate Christmas this year on the same date for the first time since 1751. The Russian and Greek churches for centuries followed the Julian, which caused them to celebrate Christmas from ten to thirteen days after the rest of the Christian churches. So are coming literally true the prophetic words of the poet:

Soon over half the earth
In every temple men shall kneel again
To celebrate his birth
Who brought the message of good will to men.

The Christmas Tree Industry

Woods of Canada Supply Christmas Trees for Homes in United States

Canada, with a considerable range between her winter and summer climates, has in consequence many industries which are purely seasonal in character. Among them is one of the briefest period of activity but which,
for the few days of its operation, carries greater joy and pleasure into the world than any other pursuit, and is one of the few lines of commerce which the juvenile population would consider indispensable to the well-being of the country. This is the Christmas tree industry, which is responsible for putting the little spruce tree into the homes of the continent.
For weeks past woodsmen have been busy in the woods of Canada and cars of the little trees going down across the border to the cities and towns of the United States. This winter a bit of Canada will go into the homes of the entire continent though not all will know or recognize it.

The Christmas tree idea was continental in origin, though America with its deep-breasted valley, its canyons, and cutbanks clad with spruce and pine would suggest itself at once as the home of the custom, and the institution might have been created expressly for the children of the American continent. The United States as she grew and expanded found she required her trees for less romantic and sentimental purposes and, it must be confessed, used them in a rather lavish and profligate manner, not always seeing that when a Christmas tree was cut down to cheer somebody's Christmas there was one planted in its place for a Christmas to come.

don't risk eating chestnuts in the dark.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DECEMBER 23

THE UNIVERSAL REIGN OF CHRIST

Theme: The Meaning of Christ's Reign

Lesson—Isa. 9: 6, 7; 11: 1-10; Ps. 2: 1-12

GOLDEN TEXT—Ask for me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession.—Ps.
2: 8.

The Lesson Setting

When—Isaiah, 8th century B. C.
Psalm 2, about 1040 B. C.

Questions on the Lesson Text

What passage do we study as our Christmas lesson? Who does Isaiah foretell in this passage? Of what line shall he be a successor? Whose spirit shall rest upon the Messiah, and by whose knowledge shall he reign?
After what manner shall the judgments of the Messiah be made? What consideration shall the poor receive under the reign of the Messiah? What shall become the part of the meek?
In what manner shall he deal with the wicked and the unrighteous? What great changes shall take place in the world after the reign of the Messiah has been established? By what figures does the prophet foretell this condition? What spirit shall reign in all the world? To whom shall the Messiah be a beacon light and a help?

The Lesson Story

Last week we stood with Paul at Troas and saw with him the vision of the man from Macedonia and heard the call for help. Later, we learned of the journey to Philippi, of the meeting by the river side, of the conversion of Lydia, and the founding of the church there. And then we saw Paul as a prisoner in Rome, and in our last passage heard him speak modestly of the work which he had been able to do under the guidance of God and by the help of his Spirit. Today, for our Christmas lesson, we study the passage from Isaiah where he foretells the coming of the Messiah out of the line of David, and we hear him tell that the Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon this branch of the house of Jesse, the Messiah for whom the Jews were looking. And we learn that the Messiah shall be quick in his understanding and knowledge of the Lord, that he shall judge justly and with righteousness. We learn that the words of his mouth shall correct evil in the world, and that with his breath he shall slay the wicked. Righteousness and faithfulness shall be the watch-words of his reign, and hatred and contention shall be made to cease.
Enmity shall become a thing unknown and brotherliness and helpfulness shall be the order of the day. His kingdom shall stand out as a beacon light to all the nations, and to it shall all the heathen be drawn for rest and peace. From our passage from Psalm 2 we learn that Jehovah has promised to give to Christ all the heathen of the world for his portion, and the farthest and remotest parts of the earth shall look to the Messiah for guidance.

Leading Bankers Review
Important Developments

An opportunity of obtaining a thorough knowledge of present conditions, as well as to gauge the outlook for the next year in Canada was afforded at the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal.

Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., the President, and Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the General Manager, in their addresses to the shareholders of the Bank referred in most interesting manner to the important developments that had occurred during the past year and the way in which the country had been able to meet them.
Sir Vincent dealt more particularly with the outstanding features of the country itself, touching on such important questions as business in Canada, agricultural conditions, immigration, the burden of taxation and reviewing the situation both in Great Britain and the United States.

Sir Frederick also expressed the opinion that Canada cannot progress as she should until the cost of living in this country and taxation are less than across the line in the United States. The remedy, however, he pointed out, is in our hands and is practicable.

Burden of Taxation

Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., President, in his address to shareholders, said, in part:—

"I make no apology for stressing again the desirability, one might even say the imperative, of moderating public taxation, federal, provincial and municipal, in order to lighten the load pressing upon business and deterring development of resources. The margin of profit in all business is seriously curtailed by the accumulation of taxation, a condition that retards enterprise and discourages thrift. In making this remark, I am not mindful of some recent signs of improvement. The rising revenue of the Dominion Government promises a balanced budget at the close of the fiscal year, and if out of this, with further reduction in expenditure, comes some remission of direct taxation upon trade, it will undoubtedly operate to the general advantage."

Priceless Advantages

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager, in his review of the affairs of the Bank during the year,
said, in part:—

"Canada's economic position will not be satisfactory until we succeed in balancing our public revenue and expenditure, including railways.
"Meanwhile we must not lower our flag, nor is there any occasion for doing so. Canada has priceless advantages as a place to live in, to work in and to play in. These should be obvious to all—as, indeed, they are to our friends in the United States, who now have $850,000,000 or more commercially invested in Canada—and they will without question attract to us in the fullness of time the people we need."

"Prosperity in full measure cannot, however, return to the country until agriculture, our chief industry, becomes again more profitable. Agriculture cannot be permanently depressed. In the nature of things an improvement is bound to ensue, but the burden in the meantime bears heavily upon this vital industry. For your information, of this Bank's current loans in Canada, upwards of $33,000,000 are to the agricultural community."

COAL SHIPMENTS TO ONTARIO

Alberta has shipped approximately 51,000 tons of coal to Ontario markets during the past year, according to figures supplied by H. Stutchbury, Alberta Trade Commissioner. The campaign conducted by the government to make Alberta coal popular in Ontario has met with immense success. The matter of securing a permanent low freight rate on the Alberta coal to the Eastern market is still under negotiation between Premier Greenfield and the officials of the C. N. R.

A Letter

The Editor,

Didsbury Pioneer.

Dear Sir:—In the "Rugby and District", column of your issue of the 2nd. inst., a note re the lack of a Christmas Entertainment at Rugby school catches my eye. I wonder whether your correspondent would object to answering a few pertinent questions put by an outsider?

In the first place, who missed the said entertainment most, the children or their dance-loving elders? I have my own suspicions.

Secondly, was the correspondent, (he or she), ever a school teacher in a rural school containing nine grades? I very much doubt it or that note would not have been written.

I note one item which rather has me basted; that re the Department of Education's mush. Does this indicate that the rural schools are adding Household Science to their already overloaded curriculum? Or is it a reference to some obscure detail of the domestic economy of the Hon. Perrin Baker, Minister of Education?

I must say that I rather admire the courage of the young man teaching the school in question in calmly ignoring the local precedent and "sticking to his knitting" in the prosy task of attempting to impart some germs of knowledge in the grey matter of an average nine graded rural school.

As I read your note I was prone to say with my national poet (Burns): "A chiel's amang us 'takin' notes." Hope the chiel in question will see this and that other teachers will arouse his umbrage in the same way.

Yours,

Ex Teacher.
